1992 MIDGET PROVINCIALS VETERAN Tyson Stafford dropped the ceremonial puck between his son, Elk Point Avalanche's 'Captain Obvious' Austin Stafford and Pincher Creek Huskies' captain Chase Snider to officially open the 2017 Midget 'D' Provincial Championship Tournament in Elk Point on Thursday evening.

Elk Point and district in the midst of a baby boom

VICKI BROOKER

Elk Point and district saw a baby boom in 2016, and that is continuing into the New Year, according to Christal Brodziak of Community Health Services, who told last week's meeting of the Interagency Health Committee that there were 30 births to parents from this area last year, "and there's usually about 20," and another seven in January 2017. "That's huge."

Brodziak warned the committee that there is a mumps epidemic in the province, as well as a lot of influenza and respiratory syncytial virus (RSV), which affects the lungs and respiratory tract and can be serious in premature infants. In addition, she reminded everyone that, "any disease is just a plane ride away."

With the large number of new babies in the area, FCSS representative Terry Shankowski said she was surprised that so few of the parents had come to pick up a 'welcome baby' package, containing a variety of helpful items for the new baby and its parents, in exchange for a coupon handed out to the parents by Community Health. FCSS also has welcome packages for new residents moving into Elk Point and district, she noted, with a variety of helpful information to help newcomers find out what Elk Point has to offer.

FCSS is currently in the middle of income tax season, with two volunteer accountants from St. Paul helping 10 to 15 residents per week with basic income tax. This service is available free of charge for those individuals earning $35,000 a year or less or couples earning less than $40,000. Last week, the volunteers went to Heritage Lodge to help those residents with their tax returns. Shankowski regrets that FCSS "had to say no to the people from the reserves. It's not that we don't want to help them, it's just that we don't have the capacity to do it." Last year, FCSS assisted 71 low-income people with their tax returns.

Deputy Mayor Lorne Young reported that the Town of Elk Point has sent out "a lot of letters" regarding the need for prompt removal of snow from sidewalks, and said that some residents and businesses will be having

Avalanche hosts Alberta's top Midget 'D'

It's been nine years since Elk Point Minor Hockey last hosted a Provincials tournament, but they certainly haven't forgotten how to welcome Alberta's best teams to our community. Thursday night's opening ceremonies brought out a huge crowd to welcome the visitors from all corners of the province, and to cheer on the Avalanche in their first game of the 2017 Midget 'D' tournament round robin.

Members of the Elk Point Storm girls' hockey team were first on the ice, carrying the Canada and Alberta flags and placards bearing the names of the teams vying for the championship. Members of the younger Avalanche teams proudly carried in the banners, leading each of the eight teams in to line up for the ceremonies.

Mayor Parrish Tung welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Town of Elk Point and congratulated the teams on their successful seasons. He urged all the players to "give your parents and coaches a hand" for their part in the teams' success, and congratulated the tournament organizing committee, "without whom we wouldn't be here."

the cost of removal by town crews added to their tax bills. The town is currently deep in budget discussions, and has signed a number of contracts for summer projects that will include making a start on replacing aging water lines. He noted that renovations at Elk Point Health Care Centre are ongoing and will apparently take longer than originally anticipated, with completion now expected to be in early summer.

A report from Loris Kozina at Heritage Lodge said that new flooring had been installed in the common areas last fall, and a sprinkler system is being installed this week. The lodge currently has a few vacancies.

Seniors representative Levina Ewasiuk reminded everyone that there are only a few days to purchase STARS lottery tickets, and that ticket sales, which support the operation of the air rescue society, have not been that plentiful this year.

Mayor Parrish Tung has been in contact with Dr. Majeet, and said he would be coming to meet with Dr. Ramful and Dr. Oyeboode later in the week. Dr. Majeet plans to open his practice here in April.

Hockey Alberta representative and onetime Elk Point Minor Hockey player Danny Povaschuk told the crowd that although he has lived in Hanna for a number of years, "I still call Elk Point home." He thanked Elk Point Minor Hockey, tournament chair Lori Poitras and the volunteers "who make this a memorable occasion." Thanks also went out to provincial and local sponsors, parents, grandparents and other team supporters, with special recognition going to the parents who transport the team to tournaments. Canada Day Committee seeking additional sponsors

Review Staff

With many of the plans in place for Elk Point's July 1 celebration of Canada's 150th birthday, and the Town of Elk Point, the County of St. Paul and the Early Childhood Development Committee on board to cover the cost of fireworks and some of the entertainment for both adults and children, the Canada Day Committee is now seeking out sponsors to cover the rest of the expenses for the day-long event.

Some of the events, such as the Friends of the Elk Point Municipal Library's pancake breakfast and the Ukrainian Orthodox Church's pyrohy lunch, are self-supporting, events such as the parade, Teen Zone activities and Famous in a Small Town Talent Competition still need financial support. A total of 22 various investments, ranging from $50 to $1,500, are available, each bringing with them the opportunity to have the sponsor's company name on posters, advertising, banners and placards at events, and to be mentioned at the events and on social media leading up to Canada Day. Smaller donations in any amount are also welcome, as are donations in kind, such as the loan of tents and generators or the donation of small prizes for children's and teen games. Further information on Canada Day sponsorship or on volunteer opportunities before or during Canada Day, is available by contacting recreation@elkpoint.ca or by calling or texting 780-207-5898.

The committee was pleased to learn at last week's meeting that the A. G. Ross Arena will be available as a site for the supper and dance, provided that adequate security is present for the evening activities. The band, 'Mid Life Crisis', has confirmed their attendance, and now the committee just has to firm up arrangements for the supper.

Elk Point Minor Hockey president Angie Canning added another welcome and said the organization was "very honoured to host Provincials" this year.

MC Doug Bassett introduced tournament chair Lori Poitras, before calling forward his granddaughter, Storm goalie Heaven Colbourne, to lead the singing of O Canada.

As Elk Point Avalanche captain Austin Stafford and Pincher Creek Huskies captain Chase Snider took their places at centre ice for the ceremonial face-off, Bassett introduced Tyson Stafford, who was part of the Elk Point Midget Thunder team that competed in Elk Point's first-ever Midget Provincials tournament, 25 years ago this past weekend. It was the first time Bassett had worked in the time box, and he recalled that Stafford was "by far the best player on the ice that weekend."

Avs make semi-finals

All a coach can ever ask of his players is to make it to Sunday for the semi-finals. After that, it's a bonus. And Avalanche coach Gerry Kjenner' boys did that for him. Eight teams started the weekend on Thursday and on Sunday morning only four teams were left, and the Avalanche was one of them.

The boys had a rough start on Thursday against Pincher Creek, losing that game 6 to 1. Free wheeling defenseman with the wicked shot Hayden 'Hot Wheels' Ludlage was the player of the game.

The boys bounced right back in a must-win game on Friday, winning 9 to 4 over Hanna. The big rig, Brody 'the Big O' Odgaard was unstoppable and named the player of the game, scoring a hat trick in that one. Then with another must-win game on Saturday, the Avalanche winning again, that one 5 to 3 over the Thunderstars. Rugged defenseman 'Warrior Warren' Ference the player of the game. He set the pace, scoring the first two goals of the game and dished out some bone crushing checks. The Avalanche taking second in their pool, sending them to the semi final game, at 10:30 a.m. Sunday morning against Eckville, losing a heart breaker 7 to 5. Goalie Shane 'Hercules'

Hurtubise, who played outstanding facing 57 shots on goal, was named the player of the game.

If you want to make excuses you can, I won't because I know the boys played their hearts out, had a 4 to 2 lead at the half way mark of the game, but eventually were worn down with all the pounding. Other than the jiggers in the first game, they played extremely well and with a couple of more bodies could have gone all the way to the finals, I'm sure of it. Two players were out of the line up, lots of them suffering bruises, the short bench final taking its toll. The boys put on a first class act for their parents and fans, and gained respect from every other team.

A sad day for some of the veterans and especially their parents, not only because they never made it to the final, but knowing this was their very last game in minor hockey. Team captain Austin 'Captain Obvious' Stafford, goalie Shayne 'Hercules' Hurtubise, Bowen 'Bam Bam' Krider and Kyle 'Ketchup' Kjenner, four terrific competitive hockey players who come from very fine hockey families, have laced up for the last time in minor hockey.

Our volunteers are the best!

It's hard to even imagine what Elk Point would be like without its volunteers. This past weekend, for example, there were volunteers of all ages, from elementary school students to seniors, involved in making the Midget 'D' Provincials a roaring success.

Elk Point Minor Hockey was the host organization, but there was certainly no way they could have put on what our friendly neighborhood Sportsound, Doug Bassett, calls "The Big Show" without a lot of help from their friends, relatives and neighbours.

That so much help was available was an indication of how important our arena and our minor hockey system is to the community.

Quite often, with any event, it turns out that because many of our volunteers belong to multiple groups, all of those groups are likely to be involved in the same or different activities at the same time. You can't work a bingo and sell 50-50s at a hockey game at the same time, for example.

There are also groups with seriously shrunken membership lists, who can't really do things on their own, and those that have lots of members, but few of them that are active, likely due to work or family commitments.

Minor hockey seems to override those drawbacks and brings out an impressive number of helpers to make things run smoothly. They set a sterling example for these young people on the teams, who may view volunteering as a necessary and appropriate part of living in a community, and will follow in the footsteps of the present generation of volunteers.

Thanks to every single volunteer who had a part in this amazing weekend. Together, you made it happen and once again made our community "The Right Place to Be."

Do you have a sport or hobby that you love and you'd like to spread the word and joy? Contact the Rec Department! I can guarantee if you love your new hobby there will be someone else out there who does too!

Late last year I happened upon a group playing Pickleball in another community, stopped and asked questions. I ended up playing a set, enjoyed it and thought, "I bet there's people in Elk Point who would love this". And sure enough there was!

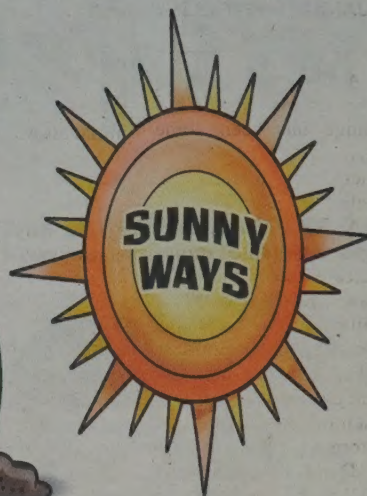

It was just a matter of finding them, and helping get the group started. Now the Pickleballers play every Tuesday and Thursday.

Another incident happened recently, a community member discovered the joy and health benefits of Nordic walking. So that's the next project for the rec department, to see who else out there would like to try it and maybe even form a group that'll go walking once or twice a week.

It doesn't have to be a sport, maybe you love needlepoint and would like to share that interest with someone. Or maybe it's gardening or snowman building! If you'd like help finding people with the same interests or forming a club or help finding funding to start a recreation group, call or text me 780.207.5898 or email recreation@elkpoint.ca.

Tourism award, hockey provincials and town revitalization

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF MARCH 27 IN...

1987

Utility customers in Elk Point would face higher water and sewer rates as of May 1, after Town Council passed a motion increasing the minimum cost for water and decreasing the minimum gallonage, in hopes of coming closer to meeting operating costs. Elk Point and district raised $1,026.26 in donations for Rick Hansen's Man in Motion tour, an amount which would be matched by the provincial government.

1992

Billie Milholland's fascination with the history of the Elk Point area earned her the first TIALTA Heritage Tourism Award to ever come to northeast Alberta. Elk Point Midget Thunder finished their first season by winning the zone championship, as they prepared to host the Midget C Provincials.

1997

Elk Point Midget Thunder watched their year-long arch-rivals, the Kitscoty Pitbulls, go down to defeat at the hands of Eckville Eagles as the Thunder hosted Midget C Provincials. Robyn Danyluk placed first in senior competition at District 4-H Public Speaking in St. Lina, while Kyle Kurek placed second in the Junior competition.

2002

Elk Point Storm hosted an outstanding Midget Female B provincials, with the Gibbons - Bon Accord CNN Spurs taking home the gold. Elk Point Chamber of Commerce got some food for thought along with their dinner as members brought along three pages of suggestions for town revitalization.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

Thirty-six years of service to the community through the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department, 16 of them as fire chief, were recognized at the Fourth Annual Firefighters Ball when Assistant Fire Commissioner Ernie Polson presented Ken Palamarek with an Alberta Emergency Services medal. Those interested in purchasing land near Stony Lake had another option to consider after the County of St. Paul council passed the first reading of a bylaw rezoning land located at NW 23-56-8-W4 from "agricultural district" to "country residential."

2012

The 2011-2012 minor hockey season ended with the biggest windup banquet in recent history, where Warren Ference was the proud recipient of the Alex Kurash Memorial Trophy as the most improved peewee hockey player. Premier Alison Redford called a provincial election for April 23 and local political leaders were predicting it would be the most interesting election in a long time, with Progressive Conservative incumbent Ray Danyluk declaring, "I just want to say I'm ready."

Mixed reaction to fishing regulation changes

Draw system implemented for Lac La Biche, Lac Bellevue, Bourque Lake, Hilda Lake and Gull Lake

JANANI WHITFIELD
Journal Staff

A concerted push to have fishing regulations change has seen some movement, to mixed reaction from Lakeland anglers.

Alberta fishing regulations posted online indicate there will be a draw system (tags) for walleye in Lac La Biche, Lac Bellevue, Bourque Lake, Hilda Lake and Gull Lake in place of zero catch regulations in place before.

Darryl Lotoski, owner of Warehouse Sports in St. Paul, said anglers are beginning to hear about the change, but are not thrilled about it, saying, "They don't want the government to steal money from them."

He counts himself as unimpressed by the changes, saying, "It's not going to do anything for the lakes except make the government more money."

However, Ray Makowecki, fisheries biologist and volunteer with a group that is pushing for changes to fishing regulations in northeast Alberta, says there are also some anglers saying this is a start.

"The government has really resisted changes for many years. Now at least we have some initial allowance for these zero walleye lakes," he said. While anglers are averse to the bureaucracy of the draw system, he notes that if there is a significant increase in the number of tags issued, it will help fish populations and the lakes themselves.

"It will help in terms of better managing all the species, in terms of perch, forage fish, the effects of northern pike and lake whitefish. If you reduce the walleye, it will benefit those other species as well . . . it will have a more balanced fish production," he said, adding that it should also improve the condition of walleye, and reduce the starving of walleye.

Makowecki said he, along with other volunteers and municipal partners such as the County of St. Paul, Lac La Biche and the MD of Bonnyville, would like to see a movement away from the draw system to perhaps introducing a slot size, controlling for cormorants, increasing fish stocking, and protecting fish habitat and water quality, among other suggestions. Some of these may be on the table for changes in 2018, he felt, based on his conversations.

"Our fish, the fish in all these lakes, including the water, and the health of the water, and the living species of the water . . . are publicly owned resources," he said, adding anglers do not want to see these resources hurt or damaged, but protected while allowing people to responsibly harvest and consume the resource. "That's the concern, that this resource be properly managed, which includes the harvest and use of some of this fish."

"Anglers are glad that there has been some change, we're looking forward to making further changes."
